

SYNOPSIS: JANUARY 18, 1998

In order to serve others by giving them a current of light and might (sakaash), become free from attachment (lagaavmukt) and have unlimited disinterest.

BapDada' blessing: May you become equal! May you become complete! May you be perfect! (samaan bhav! sampann bhav!, sampoorn bhav!)

The easiest method to accomplish this is to remain constantly merged in the Ocean of Love (sada sneh ke sagar men sama jao).

Love: Love is such a power that it makes you forget everything else; you neither remember the body nor the bodily world. Love frees you from labouring. Where there is love (mohbbat), there is no labour (mehnat). Love easily and constantly enables you to experience BapDada's hand over you. Love becomes a canopy of protection and enables you to conquer Maya. No matter how big a mountain of problems there may be, love makes that mountain as light as water. Love easily makes you equal, because to become like the one you love is not difficult.

BapDada is specially giving the children the blessing of becoming free from labouring. Whenever you carry out any task, do that whilst remaining double-light and you will then experience any hard work to be a form of entertainment. Remain absorbed in love; do not come out of the Ocean of Love. Sacrifice the old world! Fix a final date for this.

BapDada says: Constantly use the power of love for every task! Remain merged! The power of love will easily free you from everything else. Love brings about transformation. If you constantly maintain the power of love, you become free from labouring (mehnat se mukt) for all time.

Memorial: In the subtle form, Baba constantly fulfils the responsibility of companionship with every child at whatever time and whenever they want. In the pictures, Krishna has been shown with each and every gopi; that is a memorial of this time.

Put into practice the thought of becoming equal to the Father.

1. Balance the desire to become with actually becoming. Make the speed of effort as fast as the speed of time.
2. Inculcate the specialities of Father Brahma into your practical lives.
3. Do not make time your teacher.
4. Have an attitude of unlimited disinterest. Without it, you will be unable to do the service of giving powerful sakaash.
5. In the mirror of completion, check your attachments. Let go of anything holding you to the shores, let go of the golden chains of subtle attachments and become free.