Classic Dadi

The scene was London in the early days. Dadi was telling me, "There is a mother who has a lot of love for service and she's hired a room but she needs a teacher." I could feel Dadi's love and see the twinkle in her eye as she spoke. In those days I was no way a teacher nor did I know how to give the meditation course. But, anaesthetized with the vibration of Dadi's love I found myself saying, "Yes" when she asked me to go. Then I had a second thought: "But when I talk my knees shake! And it wouldn't do to be talking about peace when your knees shake." She looked at me; looked away; looked at me again; then with her classic finger pointed at me she said powerfully, "They are NOT coming to see YOU! They are coming to see BABA!" Wow! The penny dropped. In a flash that egocentricity that I'd cultivated over decades vanished into thin air. I drove to that venue in bliss. And even though I encountered heavy traffic which delayed me by half an hour, I was still intoxicated. Needless to say, the mother who couldn't give the talk had started the talk herself - and enjoyed it!

Words of Wisdom

Everything depends on our intellect. Let us live with an absolutely clean intellect – no karmic bondage, no account with anyone, no thoughts of anything. We have so much faith that victory is destined for us; it is guaranteed. Our faith and trust in the self have made us strong. Faith in the intellect makes us victorious. It's the intellect that tells us that we are definitely victorious. The soul has this gift of having faith in the self, in Baba and in the drama. Drama shows you how to make your faith and trust strong. Yes, for namesake I have a part in this drama and it makes my stage, and my faith and trust, strong. Faith and trust alone have worked for me. To be an instrument means that faith and trust are solid: knowing that Baba is inspiring me to do everything and that drama is destined to bring me success. Dadi does not use her intellect. She checks what her intellect is doing and sees it is so quiet. Some cannot keep the intellect quiet.

What Baba has said in His elevated versions is happening and you are seeing that. It's fortune to see and experience that. We don't need to do anything else. He is doing everything; He is inspiring everything. We just carry on experiencing that, whilst looking at Karavanhar, the One who is making us do everything, by constantly looking at Him, our lives have become worthwhile. In fact, it's not so much the fact that my life is now successful but that it is no longer in my hands; it's in Baba's hands. We are being sustained in Baba's lap. Baba has made us His companions. It is such a beautiful pilgrimage! The only sound that emerges is that everyone's life should be like this.

Drishti Point

I keep the faith that Baba has chosen me to do his task and serve the whole world. I radiate the bliss that this understanding brings me and see each soul I meet today with this utter spiritual joy.

Karma Yoga Point

As I approach any task today I do so connected to the source of all power and know that success is guaranteed and that there will be benefit for all because Baba is with me.
