The Purest of Diamond

For me, Dadi is a great source of inspiration and a giant example of being a constant bestower. Just by remembering her company, sweet memories flood my mind. Suddenly, in June 2009, I was to meet Dadi face to face for the first time – this felt unimaginable, having never thought it could come true. At that time, I was facing a decision, big enough that it may change my entire life. The dilemma for me was to know if this chance was an opportunity or a big trap for the soul. Everyone who knew the story gave mixed opinions, but none of the answers seemed to resolve my inner conflict. Drama intervened, and at my first face to face meeting with my inspiration, Dadi said, 'You belong to Baba, this is the truth', and she decorated my finger with Baba's ring. Instantly, my mind returned to peace and the intellect felt in harmony with my heart. I had always known that I belonged to ONE, but Dadi's vision and unflinching faith in this soul acted like an imperishable stamp with its blessing of immortality. Dadi's love for Baba always attracted me towards her, but now, her quality of faith and unconditional way of bestowing, made me naturally love her for who she is... the purest of diamond.

Words of Wisdom

There are three words: faith, trust and bhavna. Baba has spoken in recent Sakar Murlis about faith: faith in the self, Baba and drama. When there's faith, there's bhavna and then questions cease. Baba, whatever You want to do... Does Baba have any desires or hopes for all of us? All Baba's Sakar Murlis are in my head and heart. Whatever Baba has said has happened practically.

A sensible child of Baba, whether they are moving, sitting or physically doing something never forgets who they belong to. A soul conscious stage is created when we keep in our awareness 'who I am' and 'who I belong to'. This awareness brings a lot of happiness. Whatever the task, see if your actions are according to gyan and yoga. Am I doing every action with understanding? It's God's task, its God's home and I am God's child.

Each one's part in the drama is fixed. Baba says: Drama. Baba. On one side is Baba and the other side is the drama and so these are the stars of the two eyes. Drama and Baba are sitting in both eyes. It is not that Baba is in one eye and the drama in the other eyes. Once I said to Baba: Baba, I have Shiv Baba in one eye and Brahma Baba in the other eye and Baba said: Why are you separating the two? Both are sitting together in both eyes. We are the stars of the eyes of both of them. Our part in the drama is wonderful. Seeing your own part, each one should remain alert and accurate. This is very good fortune.

Drishti Point

I look upon the daily drama of events as always flowing in a way that is beneficial for me. Drama is my friend and my eyes feel with love and faith for everyone in my life.

Karma Yoga Point

I know that I belong to one Baba and sense that all questions in my life are resolved by deep remembrance.
