

News of touring this land and abroad.

One of the specialities of the foreign lands is that the scientists who are instrumental in inventing the physical facilities for world transformation are refining their inventions. The deep desire of those scientists is to conquer time and the elements of matter and be able to control all the elements of nature. They consider refining everything be their victory. In the memorial of the previous cycle, the speciality of the kingdom of Ravan is remembered for having the ability to control all the elements. Souls in foreign lands are engaged in this task exactly as they were a cycle ago. As well as this, the scientists are unknowingly deeply engrossed in creating the facilities for happiness that you Raj Yogi souls are to attain as the fortune of your kingdom of heaven as your reward for your elevated yoga. They are engaged in serving you by inventing elevated, satopradhan facilities of matter for you future deities. Just as you remain in love for all the attainments that you receive from the Father, in the same way, souls from the foreign lands have the desire to create heaven on earth through their power of science. Heaven is where nothing is lacking. According to the drama, souls who have become instruments for this task are engaged in this task very well with deep love. However, they are doing it all for you alone. Do all of you feel that they are engaged in making these preparations for you? They are serving with such honesty and cleanliness. If you were to see their deep love for this task you would experience how they are very well engaged in this task of service with faithfulness, day and night. All of those servers are deeply absorbed in just the one concern. However, do you souls, who are to attain all of those facilities of happiness, who are to claim a right to the kingdom of the world, remain absorbed in this deep love, or do obstacles prevent your love from becoming imperishable? Does the fire of love remain burning imperishably or is there sometimes love and sometimes obstacles?

Baba saw in the foreign scientists the speciality of being constantly engaged in their task. So, the virtue that your servers have is also in the souls who are to become masters of the world, is it not? Check yourself! On the other side, observing the children abroad who have God's knowledge, Baba saw that they also have deep love, zeal, enthusiasm and just the one determined thought of quickly giving the Father's message. The sound of the experience of special souls who have become instruments in the foreign lands will awaken the Kumbhakarnas (sleeping giants) of Bharat. You have to reveal in front of the Father such instrument souls, that is, bring them into contact and relationship. Spread the sound of the closeness of time in Bharat through the foreign lands. Baba saw that the children who have Godly knowledge have tied the bracelet of this one determined thought of deep love. They too are not concerned whether it is day or night; both are the same. They are lost in this deep love.

According to the love now, the majority of souls were visible as the shining beads of the rosary, free from obstacles and threaded together with love and co-operation for each other. New and old children, all have the same enthusiasm to give their finger for this elevated task. They want to show Baba something. What else did Baba see? Souls who are yet to receive the message, souls who have the desire to attain this, that is, souls who are still searching, become happy on attaining a drop of peace and power in a short time. They experience the instrument souls sent to them by the Supreme Soul or God, the Father, to be alokik angels. They experience happiness in giving the return of even a little service they have taken and they instantly give the return. They show a lot of gratitude for the little service that has been done for them. The destiny fixed in the drama for the elevated instrument souls and the children with Godly knowledge to become all-rounders in the field of service has a deep connection with establishment and destruction. By your doing this service for a short time and by becoming all-rounders and rulers of the globe and serving through your vision, words, connections and attitude of subtle good wishes and pure feelings, you will reveal knowledgeable souls and scientist souls who will be the instruments for the preparation of your kingdom in a variety of ways. Through the vision of you most elevated souls, the instrumental server souls will receive the fruit of their service, that is, they will receive help in the task of them becoming servers. Do you understand the significance of this?

In Bharat, you will find souls who are your devotees. However, three types of souls are needed: 1) Souls who are Brahmins and who are to become deities and subjects. 2) Devotee souls. 3) Souls who will prepare and give you your kingdom. Servers become instruments to prepare all the means and facilities for happiness and you will experience the reward. The five elements and the refined facilities made from the five elements will become instruments to serve you. Do you remain aware of this elevated stage of self-respect, or are you even now still continuing to play the game of remembrance and forgetfulness? Become those who are embodiments of awareness and so embodiments of power. Did you hear the news of the foreign lands? There is significance in the travel of those who are currently touring the world. Wherever children with Godly knowledge have become instruments to open service places and those who are yet to become instruments, these present foreign service places will become places for travelling to in the future. In Bharat, the temples are memorial places, but they were constructed after the copper age. This is why the souls in the foreign lands have a connection with the future establishment. Do you understand? Today, Baba told you the news of the foreign lands. Baba will share news of Bharat at some other time. Having heard all the news, what do you now have to do? Do you just have to relate it to others, or do you also have to do something? In order to attain all the facilities, you have to make yourselves worthy of becoming the masters of the world. To be a constant yogi means to be a worthy soul. Do you consider yourself to be like this? Become an intense effort-maker and make yourself complete and also inspire the instrument server souls to complete their task. Only then will world transformation take place.

To the souls who are destroyers of obstacles and who destroy all obstacles with their deep love, to the souls who remain engaged in world service through their vision and attitude, to the great donor souls who, like the Father, constantly donate their virtues, knowledge and powers, to the souls who give blessings through their spiritual vision, BapDada's love, remembrance and namaste.

Meeting groups:

Do you constantly have benevolent and merciful feelings for all the souls of the world? Do you have benevolent feelings for only that which is limited, or do you also have them for that which is unlimited? If you have benevolent feelings for the world, you would automatically have these feelings for yourself. The special duty, dharma and karma of confluence-aged Brahmins is to bring about benefit for the world. It is not difficult to carry out the duty of your birth for which you are born. Every day, at amrit vela, bring into your awareness your position: your position of being a world benefactor. When you are set in your position, you will be saved from facing opposition.

Do you constantly observe every act of yours and of others while seated on the seat of a detached observer? It is very enjoyable to observe certain scenes of the drama while seated on your seat. No scene is observed without being seated on your seat. So, do you constantly remain seated on the seat of a detached observer? This unlimited drama continues all the time. It is not just two to three hours in duration. It is eternal. Therefore, to see it all the time, you need to have your seat all the time. Let it not be that you are seated on your seat for two hours and then vacate your seat. Those who constantly observe every scene as detached observers will not fluctuate on seeing the scenes of victory or defeat. They will be constantly stable. If you remember the drama, you will remain stable. If you forget the drama, you will fluctuate. If you only remember the drama sometimes, you will only rule the kingdom sometimes. If it is only sometimes that you remain a detached observer, you will only sometimes be a companion in heaven. You are knowledge-full, are you not? You know everything. However, although you know everything, the reason you are not stable in the stage of a detached observer is that you are careless about paying attention. Instead of having thoughts of the original self, you put those thoughts aside and become involved in wasteful matters. Those who do not maintain thoughts of the original self cannot remain detached observers. What is the basis of finishing thoughts of others? If you constantly have good wishes for every soul, you will never think about others. By constantly having pure and positive thoughts for the self and others, you will constantly be a detached observer. To be a detached observer means to be a companion at this time and also in the future.

What speciality have the special souls shown? What would the last speciality of special souls be, the scene which BapDada sees in advance? What would that speciality be? Scientists are refining everything and their speed is accelerating. Just as it is said, "A motor a minute", so too, the last speciality of the special souls is to give any soul the experience of liberation and liberation in life in a second. They would not just show the path but would give them the experience of peace and supersensuous joy in a second. The experience of liberation in life is happiness and the experience of liberation is peace. Let anyone who comes in front of you immediately experience this. When you develop such a speed, then, while seeing silence conquering science, the sound of “wonderful!” will emerge through everyone’s lips how you are victorious even over science. Silence should be able to achieve what science has not been able to achieve. The aim of science is to let everyone lead a life of peace and happiness. So when you succeed in doing that which science has been unable to achieve, it will be said that you have conquered science. When those who want peace receive peace and those who want happiness receive happiness, everyone will praise you; they will consider you to be their ancestors, their special deities, and will praise the Father again and again. On the basis of this, the sanskars of the devotees and the founders of the religions will emerge in the copper age. This special task is now about to take place, so consider the moments of the last victory to have come. Everyone will receive something or other. It will not just be the people of Bharat who will consider this Baba to be theirs, but everyone will consider Him to belong to them. This is why He has been called the great-great-grandfather. People of other lands think that you are giving the introduction of the Father of Bharat, but since it is said that God is One, everyone should at least experience the One. When everyone experiences the One, you can then understand that you have won. Let the one sound emerge from everyone’s lips: Our Baba. Then, in the copper age, everyone will call out: Oh God, the Father! Achcha.

Blessing: May you be a co-operative soul and so an easy yogi soul who is constantly merged in love for the one Father.

The loving souls who have deep love for the Father will always be co-operative in the Father’s elevated task. They become easy yogis to the extent that they are co-operative. Co-operative souls who are merged in love for the Father can never be co-operative with Maya. They have Baba and service in their every thought and, therefore, even when they sleep, they receive a lot of rest, peace and power. Their sleep will not just be sleep but it will be as though they are lying down in happiness having earned an income. There will be this much transformation.

Slogan: Tears of love become pearls in the small jewel box of the heart.
