

Dadi Janki's sharing - May 28, 12 noon

Just as when we take our seats on a plane, we have come to sit in the seat of a plain intellect. We say, "come my Beloved." We are not waiting for anyone, and we are not going to carry any extra weight. People tell me, "because you have so much faith, you can give so much love and cooperation to us."

Baba says to us, "Come my beloveds." This is the secret call from our sweet Baba. But it's not a call that comes to us through sound. He pulls us. When you have an attitude of renunciation in life, it creates an attitude in you that Baba is calling you. He reminds us that he called us a kalpa ago. It's a wonder. People don't know where or why we are going, but when they see us, they want to come too. What is in my heart? Thanks to Baba.

Your duty is to sit here. What is my duty? To meet through the eyes and to smile through the lips. When we are together, nothing is difficult. I used to think it would take effort to come close to Baba, but my love makes it easy. The love in the heart does all the work and the poor face has to follow whatever the heart says.

It's not hatha yoga or pranayama. We are just returning home. We don't even need any company. We came alone and will return alone. You can't tell anyone to come now. It doesn't just happen like that. Here you can say to me, "come" and I can say to you, "come". It's a good exchange. Those who come now don't have to ask where or how to go. When they sit next to us and remain still and quiet, they know what to do.

We don't follow parmat or manmat. We follow shrimat. This saves us from stumbling and we go to one Baba. Baba is the one taking us there. Once I said to Baba, "I want to walk with you." Baba said to me, "come." For a fraction of a second, I thought, "what about the others? They should come." Baba said, "why are you thinking about others?" This is sangam yug. There is only a short time to go to Baba. This is easy.

Never ask, "How do I move on? Who is going with me?" God is pleased with an honest heart. In 1974 when I went on service, Dadi asked, "what will you take with you?" "Nothing," I said. She gave a signal, and sent me off. I don't need anything – just that my heart should be clean and true. If the heart is clean, then it is true. If it is true, then it is clean.

Someone asked me, "don't you get any tension?" I told them I just add an "a" and make it attention. Don't ask, how to go? Where to go? Who will go with me? When there is faith in the intellect and the heart is clean and true, they do all the work, and the heart simple thanks Baba.

The five fingers are not all alike, but when my heart is true, I can combine the fingers, so they work together.

Baba says calmly, "come here. Let's go to our subtle world in an easy seat. This is the comfort seat. We are all sitting here. Baba has given me something to drink and made me totally free from worries. When you have faith in the knowledge, you are totally free from worries. We know that whatever is to happen is definitely ordained in the drama. Baba is pulling us from the front and we are moving forward. This is easy raj yoga.

Because of the faithful intellect, Baba is able to pull me. There is attention that my yoga should be good. How should I go there? With no questions. This is a practical life. If you want to come, come. I am not going to wait for you, nor make anyone wait for me. To be an instrument, you have to be ever ready and an all-rounder. Even if I don't say it through words, you can understand through my vibrations. Be humble. Be pure. Even if we are weak, we know some power will help us to move along.

It's not that you have to be told what to do, where to go. You show through your vibrations. Baba says, I am your support; you just have to be present in front of me. Since the beginning Baba has been teaching us the ways and means of love. Knowledge of the drama is giving us company. We know that finally we have to go.

Last night was wonderful. Dadi was serving in her sleep. Baba was smiling at her and saying "don't look back. You have to keep looking and moving forward." Don't think about the past or have any desires for the future. There is a song, "you spent the night sleeping and the day eating."

When you stay light, others get the vibration that this one is moving ahead and so let us follow this one. Time is short. Cooperation is very good. Trust is pulling me. I don't remember the past—even from an hour ago. We are all making good effort.
