He is the World Almighty Authority. Only the one Father is called the Ocean of Knowledge. All of those sages and holy men are authorities of the scriptures. You wouldn't even call them authorities of devotion. They are authorities of the scriptures. For them, everything depends on the scriptures. They believe that God will give them the fruit of their devotion. They do not know when devotion begins or when it ends. Devotees believe that God is pleased with them for doing devotion. They have a desire to meet God, but whose worship would He be pleased with? He would definitely be pleased, but only when you worship Him alone. If you worship Shankar, how could the Father be pleased? Would the Father be pleased if you worship Hanuman? They simply have a vision; they don't receive anything. The Father says: Although I grant them visions, none of them is able to come and meet Me. No, only you come and meet Me. Devotees do devotion in order to meet God. They say: We don't know in which form God will come and meet us. Therefore, that is called faith and devotion.
