

SYNOPSIS: DECEMBER 31, 1998

“On the basis of your courage (himmat), become free from having to labour (mehnat mukt) and experience yourself to be victorious.”

It is the age for the impossible to become possible.

BapDada gives the blessing: With courage, faith and intoxication, may you remain immortal!

It is written in the horoscope of you elevated Brahmins that success is your birthright in all aspects. Continue to fly with this faith and with spiritual intoxication; not intoxication filled with arrogance, but spiritual intoxication. Those who have faith in their intellects are constantly victorious in every task they perform.

Don't allow your courage to diminish, whether for yourself or for others, because this new age is for flying with your courage. It is the age when you are given all powers as your inheritance directly by the Bestower.

Before you begin any task, whether in terms of your own efforts or in terms of world service, you constantly have the faith that with your courage and BapDada's help, your success is guaranteed.

If you have faith, you definitely have intoxication. The sign of faith is intoxication, and, if you have intoxication, then you definitely do have faith; the two are interconnected. Become free from having to labour even in the thoughts of your mind.

Baba has put a full stop to all the past of all of you children. You must now therefore, stop thinking of your past.

Constantly remember this occupation of yours: It is your duty to bring about transformation. You are the children of the Bestower, and so you must continue to bestow as bestowers. Only then will you not have to give anyone anything physically with your hands in the future, for everyone in your kingdom will be constantly overflowing. This is your reward of being a bestower at this time.

Since you yourselves are as valuable as diamonds, every word you speak should be like a jewel; they should be very precious; they should not be ordinary: neither ordinary nor wasteful.

There is energy of words and speech. When your words are wasteful, your energy of speech is reduced. Even the energy of the brains of those who speak too much is reduced. Remember the two words, “Short and sweet.”

Accumulate a stock of your treasures. Accumulate your treasure of thoughts. Accumulate your treasure of words. Accumulate your treasure of all powers. Accumulate your treasure of time. Accumulate your treasure of virtues. Every night check your account of your thoughts, time, virtues and powers and then total up how much you saved in your account. These savings will help you and also help others.

For you Brahmins, every moment of this New Age is a new moment. Every breath is new and every thought is new. Therefore, constantly continue to distribute the Dilkhush toli to one another throughout the whole year and continue to dance in happiness. You should give whoever comes into contact with you one or another gift. No one should return from you empty handed. Be generous hearted. Co-operate by giving someone power. Give someone the vibrations of power. Give someone a gift of some virtue; not through your lips, but give it through your face and behaviour. Transform the negative into positive and give everyone the gift of good wishes and pure feelings. Constantly keep a stock of all the good wishes you have accumulated.

You have received greetings and also been given a gift. You have to accumulate and also let go of labouring. When you pay attention to your savings, you will not have to labour.
